The mezzanine floor is a U shape structure, built along the side and rear walls overlooking the centre warehouse area. The mezzanine floor has not been approved by council. That said, architectural and engineering drawings have been prepared and the works costed to facilitate retrospective approval of the mezzanine floor.

The main warehouse has been extensively fitted out, with internal walls lined and floors tiled.

The front masonry column and rail fence and automated gates provide good perimeter security.

The property presents well and provides a very good standard of industrial office/ warehouse accommodation.

The site is a rectangular shaped survey-strata lot having the following dimensions

Frontage - George Street 16.940 metres

Depth(Average) 25.905 metres

Land Area 438 square metres

Level 1, 187 Stirling Highway,
Nedlands WA 6009
The land is an elevated level site
